you and I. _____ At the start, our lives lay a-part as lives will lie. _____ you'd ar-rive, _____ Just to feel I had an i-deal for which to strive. _____

Up I grew and I nev-er knew That the world con-tained a darl-ing like you, Nor did Had I known I'd meet you, my own, I would not have lived for pleas-ure a-lone; I was
